

What “Fiduciary” Actually Means

Beyond the buzzword, this is a legal standard.

SWIPE →

It means I'm legally required to act in your best interest, not the firm's, not a product manufacturer's, and not my own. Every recommendation has to clear that bar.

It means no sales quotas and no proprietary products I'm incentivized to push. When insurance or annuity products do carry a commission, that's disclosed to you in writing before any recommendation.

“It's not a marketing word here. It's a legal standard.”

The Where We Begin conversation is complimentary and carries no obligation. Link in the comments.