

CHECKPOINT PLANNING

LinkedIn Marketing Material, Compliance Submission

LinkedIn Content and Ads Month 1 Compliance Submission

12 organic posts, posting schedule, and ad copy for all 4 segments

Date: September 22, 2026

What's in This Submission

This package bundles a month of LinkedIn organic content with the ad copy for all four transition segments, submitted together so the whole month can run without a mid-month compliance gap.

1. Organic posts, 12 posts

Three per week for four weeks (Monday/Wednesday/Friday), rotating through transition education, a five-part Checkpoint Strategy explainer series, personal story, and fiduciary/practice differentiator content. Each post includes its disclosure line and hashtags exactly as they'll be published.

2. LinkedIn ad copy, 4 segments, 8 ads

Two variants each for Job Loss & Layoff, Early Retirement, Divorce, and Inheritance. Job Loss is the only segment launching immediately (Phase 1 of the budget and testing plan); the other three are included now so a later phase does not require a second compliance round-trip.

Not included in this submission

Facebook/Instagram ad copy (separate platform, not part of the current push) and email nurture sequences (follow-up is being handled manually for now).

CHECKPOINT PLANNING

Section 1

Posting Schedule

Posting Schedule

#	Date	Day	Pillar	Topic
1	2026-09-28	Mon	Strategy	Checkpoint Strategy, Phase 1: Where We Begin
2	2026-09-30	Wed	Education	Job Loss: severance and COBRA timing
3	2026-10-02	Fri	Differentiator	What "fiduciary" actually means
4	2026-10-05	Mon	Strategy	Checkpoint Strategy, Phase 2: Identify and Protect
5	2026-10-07	Wed	Education	Early Retirement: Social Security claiming age
6	2026-10-09	Fri	Personal	What endurance racing taught me about financial planning
7	2026-10-12	Mon	Strategy	Checkpoint Strategy, Phase 3: Plot Checkpoints
8	2026-10-14	Wed	Education	Divorce: the after-tax value of a settlement
9	2026-10-16	Fri	Differentiator	Why direct access to your planner matters
10	2026-10-19	Mon	Strategy	Checkpoint Strategy, Phase 4 and 5: Implement, Track and Reset
11	2026-10-21	Wed	Education	Inheritance: the step-up in cost basis
12	2026-10-23	Fri	Personal	Month-end recap, "one checkpoint at a time"

CHECKPOINT PLANNING

Section 2

Organic Posts (12)

Post 1: Mon 9/28, Checkpoint Strategy Phase 1

The Checkpoint Strategy has five phases. Over the next few weeks I'll walk through each one, starting here.

Phase 1: Where We Begin.

Before any plan gets built, there's a conversation. Not a sales pitch, not a form to fill out, just 45 minutes to understand what's actually changing in your life and what feels most uncertain about it.

This is where every client relationship starts, and it's complimentary regardless of what happens after. Sometimes that conversation confirms we're a good fit. Sometimes it doesn't, and I'll tell you that too.

Clarity has to come before a plan means anything. That's the whole point of starting here.

#FinancialPlanning #FiduciaryAdvisor #FinancialClarity

Disclosure: Scott Marcoe offers products and services using the following business names: Checkpoint Planning, Capstone Financial Group, insurance and financial services. Ameritas Investment Company, LLC (AIC), Member FINRA/SIPC, securities and investments. Ameritas Advisory Services, LLC (AAS), investment advisory services. AIC and AAS are not affiliated with Capstone Financial Group.*

Post 2: Wed 9/30, Job Loss education

If you've just been laid off, here's the order that actually matters in the first 30 days.

Confirm your severance details, how it's paid and whether it affects unemployment eligibility. Understand your benefits deadlines, especially health coverage; COBRA elections typically have a 60-day window, not a 60-day requirement to decide immediately.

Then stop. Nothing about your 401(k), a major purchase, or a big financial decision needs to happen this week.

The goal of the first month isn't a plan. It's stability. The plan comes after.

#JobLoss #CareerTransition #FinancialPlanning #Layoff

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 3: Fri 10/2, What fiduciary means

"Fiduciary" gets used a lot in this industry. Here's what it actually means in practice.

It means I'm legally required to act in your best interest, not the firm's, not a product manufacturer's, and not my own. Every recommendation has to clear that bar.

It means no sales quotas and no proprietary products I'm incentivized to push. When insurance or annuity products do carry a commission, that's disclosed to you in writing before any recommendation, not buried in paperwork afterward.

It's not a marketing word here. It's a legal standard, and it's the one I'm held to on every client relationship.

#FiduciaryAdvisor #FinancialPlanning #TransparentAdvice

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 4: Mon 10/5, Checkpoint Strategy Phase 2

Continuing the series: The Checkpoint Strategy's second phase.

Phase 2: Identify and Protect.

Before building toward the future, we stabilize the present. That means reviewing benefits continuation, checking for insurance gaps, and confirming cash flow can hold steady through the transition.

This is the phase most people want to skip past, they want the plan, the strategy, the exciting part. But a plan built on an unstable foundation doesn't hold up. Protecting what you already have comes before growing it.

#FinancialPlanning #RiskManagement #CheckpointStrategy

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 5: Wed 10/7, Early Retirement education

Claiming Social Security at 62 instead of your full retirement age can permanently reduce your monthly benefit by roughly 25 to 30 percent. Waiting until 70 increases it.

I see the same mistake often: claiming early simply because retirement started early, without ever running the numbers on the alternative.

Retiring earlier than planned doesn't mean you have to claim earlier than planned. Those are two separate decisions, and modeling them side by side, based on your actual numbers, usually changes the answer.

#EarlyRetirement #SocialSecurity #RetirementPlanning

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 6: Fri 10/9, Personal story

A question I get asked often: what does competitive mountain biking have to do with financial planning?

More than you'd think. I'm a state champion mountain bike racer and a national champion in 24-hour endurance racing. Training for those races never came down to one big effort. It came down to breaking an enormous challenge into checkpoints, and adjusting to real conditions along the way, weather, terrain, how my body actually felt that day versus the plan on paper.

Financial transitions follow the same pattern. Progress happens through checkpoints, pacing, and smart decisions made under real circumstances, not the ones you wish you had.

That's where the name, and the whole approach, comes from.

#FinancialPlanning #Endurance #OneCheckpointAtATime

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 7: Mon 10/12, Checkpoint Strategy Phase 3

Phase 3: Plot Checkpoints.

This is where the actual plan gets built, with milestones set at 30, 90, and 180 days rather than one distant, abstract goal.

Shorter checkpoints do two things a single long-term goal can't. They make progress visible sooner, and they create natural points to adjust when real life doesn't match the projection, which it usually doesn't, at least not exactly.

Coordination with your CPA or attorney happens here too, when the situation calls for it, so the plan reflects your whole financial picture, not just the parts that touch investments.

#FinancialPlanning #CheckpointStrategy #GoalSetting

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 8: Wed 10/14, Divorce education

A settlement's headline number and its real value are not the same thing.

A dollar in a Roth IRA, a dollar in a traditional 401(k), and a dollar of home equity carry different tax treatment and different liquidity. Two settlements with the same total can leave two very different financial pictures once that's accounted for.

Before agreeing to a proposed split, it's worth understanding the real, after-tax value of what's actually on the table, not just the total at the bottom of the page.

#Divorce #FinancialPlanning #SettlementAnalysis

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 9: Fri 10/16, Direct access differentiator

Something worth saying plainly: you work directly with me. Every meeting, every review, every planning conversation.

Not a junior associate after the first meeting. Not a call center for questions. Me, for as long as we work together.

That's not how every practice operates, and it's a deliberate choice here. A financial plan is a personal thing, and the relationship behind it should be too.

#FinancialPlanning #ClientFirst #PersonalizedAdvice

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 10: Mon 10/19, Checkpoint Strategy Phase 4 and 5

Closing out the series with the final two phases.

Phase 4: Implement. This is where recommendations become action, account rollovers, portfolio construction, document updates, and referrals to specialists when the situation calls for it.

Phase 5: Track and Reset. Life doesn't hold still after a plan is built. Ongoing reviews and recalibration keep the plan aligned as circumstances, goals, and the market change.

Five phases, one process, the same structure whether the transition is a layoff, a divorce, an inheritance, or an early retirement. The specifics change. The framework doesn't.

#FinancialPlanning #CheckpointStrategy #FinancialWellness

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 11: Wed 10/21, Inheritance education

Inherited stocks, funds, or real estate typically receive a "step-up" in cost basis to their value on the date of death.

That single detail can significantly reduce, or eliminate, capital gains tax if you sell. It's also one of the easiest things to lose track of if records aren't documented early.

Almost nothing about an inheritance needs to be decided quickly. This is one of the few things actually worth confirming and documenting sooner rather than later.

#Inheritance #EstatePlanning #FinancialPlanning

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

Post 12: Fri 10/23, Month-end recap

One checkpoint at a time. That's been the thread through everything I've posted this month, the strategy, the story behind it, and the specific decisions that come with a layoff, an early retirement, a divorce, or an inheritance.

None of these moments come with a manual. What they need is a structured process and someone who works only for you while you're in the middle of it.

If you or someone you know is navigating one of these transitions, the Where We Begin conversation is complimentary and carries no obligation. Link in the comments.

#FinancialPlanning #FiduciaryAdvisor #LifeTransitions

Disclosure: same as Post 1.

CHECKPOINT PLANNING

Section 3

LinkedIn Ad Copy (4 Segments)

Job Loss & Layoff (LinkedIn priority: high)

Destination: https://start.checkpointplanning.com/job-loss.html?utm_source=linkedin&utm_medium=paid_social&utm_campaign=cp_jobloss_{yyyy-mm}&utm_content=li_a1

Variant A1

Intro text:

A layoff puts a dozen financial decisions in front of you at once, including severance, COBRA, and your old 401(k), usually the week you can least afford to rush them. Get a free 90-day workbook built to help you slow down and know what to do first.

Headline: Just Lost Your Job? Get a Clear 90-Day Plan.

Description: Free workbook + a complimentary planning session. No cost, no obligation.

CTA button: Download

Image concept: Clean, editorial-style graphic featuring the phrase "One Checkpoint at a Time," in the site's navy/blue palette, abstract and typographic in style.

Variant A2

Intro text:

Severance decisions. COBRA vs. marketplace coverage. What to do with your old 401(k). These don't have to be solved this week, but they do need a plan. Checkpoint Planning built a free workbook specifically for people navigating a layoff.

Headline: A 90-Day Plan for Your Next Chapter

Description: Free "Your Next Checkpoint" workbook. Fiduciary guidance, not a sales pitch.

CTA button: Download

Image concept: Workbook cover mockup in the site's navy/blue palette, same visual system as A1.

Early Retirement (LinkedIn priority: high)

Destination: https://start.checkpointplanning.com/early-retirement.html?utm_source=linkedin&utm_medium=paid_social&utm_campaign=cp_earlyretirement_{yyyy-mm}&utm_content=li_a1

Variant A1

Intro text:

Retiring earlier than planned changes the math: Social Security timing, healthcare before Medicare, pension elections, and portfolio longevity. Before you commit to a date, get the free Early Retirement Checkpoint Guide and pressure-test the plan.

Headline: Retiring Early? Make Sure Your Money Can Too.

Description: Free guide + a complimentary session with a CRPC™ planner.

CTA button: Download

Image concept: A simple roadmap/milestone graphic echoing the site's "checkpoints" concept, with 30/90/180-day markers, in the brand's analytical, structured visual style.

Variant A2

Intro text:

Claiming Social Security at 62 instead of full retirement age can permanently cut your benefit by 25-30%. If your retirement timeline moved up, by choice or otherwise, this is the decision worth getting right before you file anything.

Headline: The Retirement Decisions That Don't Wait

Description: Free Early Retirement Checkpoint Guide. No cost, no obligation session.

CTA button: Download

Image concept: A simple stat callout graphic ("62 vs. 70: it's not just about the number") in the brand's blue/charcoal palette, data-forward and typographic.

Divorce (LinkedIn priority: low, small test budget only)

Destination: https://start.checkpointplanning.com/divorce.html?utm_source=linkedin&utm_medium=paid_social&utm_campaign=cp_divorce_{yyyy-mm}&utm_content=li_a1

Variant A1

Intro text:

Divorce brings a wave of financial decisions on top of an already difficult time: settlement analysis, QDROs, tax filing status, rebuilding a budget on your own. A free guide on what to understand before you sign anything.

Headline: Financial Clarity Before You Sign a Settlement

Description: Free Divorce Financial Checkpoint Guide. Confidential.

CTA button: Download

Image concept: A simple document/checklist graphic, neutral and professional, in the site's blue/charcoal palette.

Note: no strong professional-graph targeting signal exists for this segment on LinkedIn (see `01-audience-targeting.md`). Treat this as a small, capped-budget test rather than a primary placement.

Inheritance & Unexpected Wealth (LinkedIn priority: low, small test budget only)

Destination: https://start.checkpointplanning.com/inheritance.html?utm_source=linkedin&utm_medium=paid_social&utm_campaign=cp_inheritance_{yyyy-mm}&utm_content=li_a1

Variant A1

Intro text:

Received an inheritance? There's rarely a need to decide anything quickly. A free guide covering inherited IRA rules, tax basics, and the questions worth asking before you invest, spend, or sell.

Headline: Slow Down Before You Decide Anything

Description: Free Inheritance Checkpoint Guide. No pressure, no obligation.

CTA button: Download

Image concept: A calm, unhurried graphic built around the financial-decision framing only, in the site's blue/charcoal palette.

Note: same low-priority treatment as Divorce above (small test budget). Facebook is the primary platform for this segment.